Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 20 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A windy night for most with further patchy rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy with further outbreaks of rain. The rain will be most persistent over Lanarkshire with drier conditions developing across Argyll and the West Coast. Fresh northeasterly winds. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:
Mostly cloudy with rain, mainly over Lanarkshire, dying out in the afternoon. A few light showers further west with bright spells towards West Coast. Fresh northeasterly winds easing later. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mainly dry on Saturday with some sunshine and a few showers. Cloudier on Sunday with outbreaks of rain. Drier, brighter weather returning on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.